

Seating Arrangements

Following are examples of popular seating arrangements for the bridal party and parents at the reception. You may use one of these, however, there are no set rules that say you must do it this way. Your attendants' spouses may be seated with them at the head table, or just include the actual wedding party.

